THE ANTI-CHINESE BILL.

HOW THE NEWS OF THE VETO WAS RECEIVED IN CHINA.

The Americans in China Pleased, The English Surprised, and the Populace Happy.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—The following advice have been received here by ship North America from Yokohama.

HONG KONG, April 9.—The news of the veto of the anti-Chinese bill, by President Hayes, excites various and conflicting comments. The Americans throughout China express satisfaction at the rejection of so summary a plan for disposing of the question at issue. The European residents, mostly evince surprise, they having anticipated a different action. The Chinese take contrary views even among themselves. In the immediate neighborhood of Hong Kong, which is the port of emigration, and where the friends and relatives of the Chinese now in America reside, much justification is shown.

An idea appears to prevail that in future persecutions are to cease, but there are no indications of an increase in the number of departures. Around Shanghai the populace is apparently indifferent and the officials are reticent. Private advices from Peking warrant the opinion that the bill will not be received with unmixed pleasure. It is reported on good authority that the government had prepared for the contrary result and intended to take advantage of the bill as precedent for strong measures here.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21.—House.—The House resumed as business of the morning hour the bill to repeal and amend the laws relating to the transfer of cases from State to Federal Courts. Mr. Tryon suggested by Mr. Tuckerman who was author of the bill, whether in view of the importance of the measure and lack of attention given it he would not consent to have it referred to the Judiciary Committee or recommended to the Committee on Revision. The bill was brought before this session. Mr. Tuckerman declined to accede to the suggestion, and intimated there was no lack of interest or attention on the part of the House. He insisted on his demand for the trial of the case. The Republicans of the House, however, were refrained from voting so there should not be a quorum, and then the call of the House was commenced, by which the morning hour was used up without making any progress with the bill.

Prussian Press.

BERLIN, May 21.—Herr Seydewitz, Conservative member of the Reichstag, has been elected president of that body in place of Herr Farckenbeck, resigned.

The Derby Stakes.

LONDON, May 21.—The principal betting now on the race for the Derby stakes, is 11 to 2 against Victor Chief; 6 to 1 against Cadogan and Falmouth; 7 to 1 against Charibert, and 29 to 1 against Uncle Tom.

The Strike not a Success.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The long-schemed strike continues unchanged. The steamer Laurent sailed on time this morning and the Bothnia this afternoon. The steamers took out full cargoes.

Racing Afghanistan.

SIMLA, May 21.—Among the stipulations of the treaty between the governments of India and Afghanistan, is the cession of Ali Kheyl, the Peiwar Pass, Lundi, Khotan, the Khyber Pass and the Peshawar valley beyond Quetta. The British will restore Candahar and Jellalabad, —

Iowa State Convention.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, May 21.—The Democratic State Convention assembled this morning. Nearly all the counties in the State were represented with large delegations. A temporary organization was effected, with J. W. Hagerman, of Keokuk, president.

Press Association Election.

NEW YORK, May 21.—At the annual meeting of the Associated Press of the State of New York this morning the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Carter E. Smith; Vice-President, Sylvester J. Stevens and Treasurer, Henry O. R. Tuckerman, of the Troy Times; executive committee, Messrs. Wm. Purcell, of the Rochester Union, C. G. Fairman, of the Elmira Advertiser, Charles W. McCune, of the Buffalo Courier, Philip Ten Eyck, of the Albany Journal, and S. North, of the Utica Herald.

An Intemperate Temperance Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 21.—The Prohibition Temperance League convened this morning under a call to nominate a State ticket. Quite a number of delegations from the various cities and failing to control the organization of the Convention, they withdrew to the rear of the hall, indulging in such a noisy demonstration as to call for the presence of the police, when they retired to the anteroom to have a quiet conference. The regulars then proceeded to select a nominating committee, it being found that eighteen counties were represented.

French Politics.

PARIS, May 21.—The Radical members of the Chamber of Deputies will on Saturday propose the following order of business: "The Chamber,"—"The government in the distribution of pardons has not made an application more politic and more conformable with the amnesty law, and hoping that in the future the government will make application for a general clemency and give the whole country the pacification it needs, passes it to the order of the day." This is practically a resolution of censure and would involve the fall of the Cabinet, which will, therefore, it is believed, demand the order of the day pure and simple.

The Emigrants, North and South.

Wilmington Post.

Mr. Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune, has a little Kansas question of his own to wrestle with. Mr. Reid, acting for the Tribune, organized an aid association some time ago to enable poor and fatherless boys in New York city to find homes and work in the West. Quite a large sum of money was raised for this purpose, and several hundred boys carried to the West and settled there, most of them in Kansas. The Tribune has been little disposed to boast of its connection with Reid, nor loved him less because of his picture of the happy life of these boys in the West, removed from a crowded and unhealthy city where work was scarce, to the balmy air of the country and the luxuries and comforts of Kansas. It even went so far as to publish biographies of all these boys, and prefaced their success in life.

The scheme, however failed. The boys did not take to Kansas; found it rough, cold and inhospitable, and left there unlessoned. Two months after their arrival in the promised land, a majority of the boys deserted with their new life, deserted work, ran away and tramped their way back to the East. Some of them have gone far east as Pittsburg, and declare their intention of going back to New York.

The Tribune might learn a lesson from the story of these boys, Kansas evidently does not hold out its arms to receive the white ones. The treatment that the unfortunate and unpopular Southern negroes received in this "land of promise" may well be imagined. These boys, accustomed to hard labor and rough treatment, could not stand the severity they met with out there; will our negroes be able to do so? The Tribune will better drop the negro emigration question for the present, and concentrate its attention on the failure of its "philanthropic" scheme to colonize Kansas with fatherless boys from New York.

The Adventist Sacrifice.

Letter from Mrs. Freeman.

Mrs. Freeman, of Pocasset, Mass., who recently killed his little girl under the insane belief that he was glorifying God, has written a letter to her sister describing the circumstances leading to the slaying of the child. She avows that they were devoted to their child; that her husband was one of the best husbands and fathers, and that "his whole aim for more than a year, not neglecting other duties, was to win over his wife to the Adventist cause." Finally, Mrs. Freeman says, her husband felt that God required him to have the faith of Abraham and offer up his child as a sacrifice, but he felt it would only be a trial of faith and neither thought nor believed that he would be touched. After the child was killed she says they felt that it was God's plan to take her so as to raise her from the dead, and thus show His mighty power and love. "But," says Mrs. Freeman, "the time has so far passed, and we are here, and we are now compelled to witness the effects of any crime." Charlie still thinks God is going to manifest His power and glory himself and be justified in the eyes of the world. God grant it may be so! Oh, you cannot know my sorrow! It almost breaks my heart. My dear, dear Edie! Charlie is innocent—oh, I am—of any crime, but I am afraid it was mistaken faith in God."

Shooting Stars.—A New Idea—Proofs of a Former World.

London Nature.

The Paris Academy has just awarded the Lalande medal to M. Stanislas Meunier for his researches into the construction of the earth. M. Meunier had already shown that there existed a close connection between these falling bodies and the lower strata of our own globe, and M. Meunier has carried the same line of research further, and proved that this analogy is not confined alone to the relations which these bodies extend to the relations which those cosmical materials, disseminated in space, present when compared among themselves. The academy considered that M. Meunier's researches conclude the experiments that all the mass once belonged to a considerable globe, like this earth, of true geological epochs, and that later it was decomposed into separate fragments, under the action of causes difficult to define exactly, but which have not yet been fully explained. Such a connection in the sky itself. Such a conclusion, it is remarked, adds greatly to the interest attaching to these "minute stars." The astronomer, once occupied only with their motions and their probable distribution in space, has now turned his attention to the physical properties of these bodies, and every requirement of the law and in the hope of making of some value to the agriculturists, whether it please everybody or not."

A Seven-Punishment.

Proctor Knott is said to be preparing an address to the President. Exactly what is to be gained by presenting such a document does not appear, unless it is to get in something that will stick—that cannot be sent back accompanied with a note, and joint-note, and comes down from Jefferson Davis days authorizes such an address. The President is to come to the capitol, but not to either chamber, and the address is read to him—says, in the room of the president of the Senate—by the speaker of the House. So the old joint-rule provides. The spectacle of Mr. Thurman reading to Mr. Hayes a long and tiresome document in the presence of Mr. Randal will not be an inspiring one to Mr. Hayes at least. The old rule, however, justified it, and Proctor Knott will see that Rutherford does not get off easy.

A New Stimulant.

Washington Post.

A gentlemanly appearing man was taken into the police station yesterday charged with being drunk. He said he hadn't imbibed anything for a week, but that the last thing he had ever been was sitting down to read Zachariah Chandler's last two speeches.

Come Back to Stay.

One of the pilgrims who went to Liberia in the "Colored Mayflower," the Azor, has returned to Charleston with a woe-begone countenance. His summing up is that of those who went across the sea "over one-half to die" and half died and half could come back if they could. His wife had died of the coast fever, his son Pete, a fine specimen of physical development, dropped down dead by his own door one morning, and he himself had just emerged from a fitful sleep thinking about it, and within the months he said also in this house according to good report: "I shall, in three years be back to the road again." The Azor Crawford of Oxford has received a quantity of incendiary bombs, and capitalists desiring to make a safe and remunerative investment will find it to their interest to call on him once. We are authentically informed that work will be begun on the road within sixty days. Only ten thousand dollars is due to the contractor, the enterprise, and we feel certain that the incendiaries will not less than fifty thousand dollars.

for inspection throughout the State on the 23d of May, the Raleigh Light Infantry were out in full uniform yes-tion near the court house. After the

We regret the inexpressible, the suspension of the Wilmington Sun. We regret the loss of the great paper, which it was one of the best and most sprightly dailies ever published in the State, but on account of our personal and professional regard for the editor, Mr. Cicero W. Harris, and his good lady, who have no friends but the proprietors panied the parade and played unusually well.

The Resue is a company of handsome, intelligent and able bodied men, all they need to make their service effective is the use of horses for the more prompt conveyance of the engine to fires, particularly when distant in the city.

The Stabbing Affray.

There has been much excitement in this city over the recent affray between Mr.
A. T. Blake and Mr. Wm. A. Blake on Tuesday just after midnight. The affray occurred near what is termed "Creech's Corner" and Mr. Blake sustained five serious wounds from a knife in the hands of Mr. Flemming. He fell near side gate of the Raleigh National Bank, when Mr. Flemming left. Help was summoned and Mr.
Blake was escorted to the guard house where he was laid on a couch and medicinal sent for. His family were communicated with and he was taken in a carriage to the hospital, where he now lies in a very critical condition.

Officers of the law were dispatched in every direction for Mr. Flemming, and he was finally found at his home in Newtown, and about 7 miles from Raleigh. The officer who brought him to trial before Mayor Manly yesterday, but owing to the dangerous condition of Mr. Blake it was postponed until Saturday, when it is hoped his physicians will be able to give an opinion as to his condition.

The full particulars were gathered by the reporter yesterday, but are withheld for fear of prejudicing the cause of either party. The evidence will be published in full as a matter of court record. Meantime, in the meantime, remain in custody.

Funeral of the Drowned Boys.

The bodies of the drowning boys of last Friday—Hewitt and Paul—were found yesterday afternoon from the Salsbury Street Baptist Church. An account of their distressing death from drowning appeared in the NEWS yesterday, and came to light through the newspaper just as soon as the harrowing announcement of the death of the drowned boys. The heart of this people has gone out in deep sympathy for the grief-stricken parents; the little feet were the last to be buried, and the last to find a resting place in their hearts.
Many a sad expression of poor little boys,
has been made, and many a teardrop shed over their memory.

The funeral ceremonies were most impressive, and the services conducted in the pews of the church were gathered in this city on a similar occasion.
The pupils of the Graded School,
of which both boys were members,
paid a touching tribute to their memory by turning out in body to pay their respects.

Heather and Chandler are managing him and his brief authority for the time being. And when they get through with him will fail to express their contempt for him.

DAILY NEWS

THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1879.

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, Editor.

NATIONAL ELECTIONS.

Regarding the argument made by Senator Whyte on Tuesday the Press report furnished but a meager statement of the fact that the Maryland Senator said "There was no such thing as a 'National Election' that all elections were either State or municipal." And on sober thought this view must be held as correct in all its premises.

In his veto of the Army Appropriation Bill Mr. Hayes appears as the defender of the "national" authority against what he considers to be the encroachment of the States, and throughout his message he makes frequent allusion to it which is pleased to term "national elections," and yet there never has been, since the foundation of the government, a national election within the meaning of the term employed by Mr. Hayes. Even the Presidential election is not a national election. The States vote for electors and these electors represent potential candidates, and if the decision should fall into the House of Representatives, the vote is taken by States.

Nor can the elections for Representatives in Congress come within the meaning of the term "national elections."

Congressmen do not represent the Government. They are chosen by the people of the States to represent the States in the Government.

Congress is not the Government. It represents the will of the people of the States, and is composed of the representatives of the States. If there is such a thing as a Federal election, then the managers of the polls should be Federal officers, and the votes should be counted by a Federal officer, and there should be Federal troops at the polls to back the Federal authority; and if any such thing as a "national election" had been contemplated by the Constitution it could be doubted that the wisdom of its framers would have provided for these things? But as the instrument stands, no such provision is made, and the use of troops at the polls in time of peace is not contemplated—and for the good and sufficient reason that there is no such thing as a "national election." Congressmen are elected not by the people merely, but by the people of the States. They are elected to represent the people of the States in the Government. They are not voted for as officers of the Federal Government, but as representatives of the people, and their election is in no sense a "national election."

THE GENUINE DR. C. McLANE'S WORM SPECIFIC OR VERMIFUGE.

COTTON MANUFACTURING IN THE SOUTH.

Prior to the war it appeared to be a matter of some surprise in England, judging from articles published in leading newspapers, as well as in some portions of the North, that no attempts had been made toward manufacturing cotton goods in the South.

And the extraordinary reason advanced why this was so, was that Southern capitalists were engaged in other business fully as remunerative, while it was absolutely unsafe for Northern capitalists to erect mills and bring Northern operatives thoroughly imbued, as was generally the case with Massachusetts mill hands, with the most radical views of and hatred of the institution of slavery then existing. The laws regarding protection of life and property would be set at naught, it was claimed; hence the desire to invest in a business that was considered fraught with so much danger was not great. Even this mistaken feeling to a certain degree, has not been eradicated as yet, as the following except from the Boston Transcript shows; yet the article is laden with good advice, that should not be taken amiss and at the same time pictures a glowing future for the South:

"The outlook for cotton manufacturing is much better than it has been since 1872. Since the war one hundred and eighty-three factories have been erected in the South, and this is the opportunity for the South to let principles of economy be observed in State and Municipal government; let capitalists be assured that they will not be burdened with heavy taxes, nor have under payment as in New England, and there is no reason why the region where cotton grows, the factory door, where rivers turn the mill wheels, and the adjacent fields furnish the operatives with the staff of life, cannot compete successfully with the territory east of the Hudson, which brings its cotton a thousand miles for manufacture, buys its fuel five hundred miles away and transports the food of its laborers half way across the continent. The outlook in the Southern States is hopeful, and they must have a great future before them."

Interest to Witnesses and Others. — The act to reduce criminal prosecution to a trial by jury, which provides, among other things, that no witness shall hereafter receive pay for attendance in a criminal case before a grand jury, unless such witness shall have been summoned by direction, in writing, from the foreman of the grand jury, or from the solicitor general, addressed to the Clerk of the Court, commanding him to summon such witness, stating the name or names of the parties against whom his or her testimony may be needed, or shall have given an oath or recognized by some justice of the peace to appear before the grand jury.

The second section provides that no person shall hereafter receive pay as a witness for the State, on the trial of any criminal case, unless such person shall have been summoned by the Clerk, under the direction of the Solicitor prosecuting in the court in which the action originated, or in which it shall be tried if removed. And no Solicitor shall direct that more than two witnesses be summoned by the State in any prosecution for a misdemeanor, nor shall any county or defendant in any such prosecution, be liable for, or taxed with the fees of more than two witnesses, unless the court, upon satisfactory reasons appearing, shall otherwise direct.

Shaking To-night—Closing Reception.

The closing reception of the Raleigh Skating Association will take place at the rink to-night at 8 o'clock. This will be the last opportunity of enjoying this delightful exercise that will doubtless be sent them.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. J. M. Pool and lady return their sincere thanks to Messrs. T. A. Kingsley, C. L. Kingsley, G. C. Joyce, W. B. Johnson, Fred A. Olds, and others, re-covering the bodies of their little boys who were drowned on Monday last.

The Feature of To-day.

This morning, at Christ Church, about the hour of noon, a pleasurable scene will take place. A large number of young ladies will undoubtedly be present. They are expected whether invited or not. A trip to New York, Saratoga, Long Branch, Cape May, Newport, Washington, Baltimore, Old Point and Weldon, and then the quiet though classic shades of ancient Raleigh.

Capt. Alexander.

In our report of the execution of the Chapel Hill Negro, we said that the statement of W. F. Andrews as a part of the history of the occurrence of the day, but certainly without any intention of giving any endorsement to the imputation therein upon Capt. J. M. Alexander, that he was the author of the prosecution. Capt. Alexander is a gentleman of character and standing, and simply did his duty as a good citizen and faithful attorney.

Captain Punished in Switzerland.

The Swiss police does not actually revive capital punishment but leaves each Canton at liberty, as was the case until 1874, to enact it or not. Both conditions of validity, viz.: an aggregate number of persons condemned to death have been secured in favor of this permissive measure. Catholics and Conservatives advocated the measure, pointing out the increase of murders since the death punishment was abolished.

Judge's Court.

Before Justice Barber in the Court House yesterday about 12 m., George Smith, of Wake, was up on a charge of the larceny of snuff to the amount of $100. The facts of the case were not able to establish their charges and the defendant went free. A little fee bill and cost were left for the prosecutors to plunk down. The justice says he is very strict to do this latter plunk down but is not so strict in the case of malicious. If you are either don't neither, or you'll have to pay or with jailor stay, or words to that effect.

A Curious Fish.

Mr. A. D. Taylor brought to the News office yesterday afternoon a curious specimen not exactly of the "finny tribe," but of the fish tribe. It is about one and a half feet in length; its head resembles that of a snake at the first glance, but on looking underneath the mouth is found to run right through the nostrils, and the mouth opening, which gives a prejudice against water, and depends largely upon wine as a beverage, the destruction of the grape crop is an unusually serious matter.

Portuguese is passing a verdict on capital punishment. The results of the popular vote, so far as known, indicate the re-establishment of the death penalty by a considerable majority. But even the Swiss will be able to devise any means by which the infliction of capital punishment in this case should be imposed, as it is or should be imposed, can be made a certainty.

The war upon the practice of "treating" is pronounced by the "Judge" and the "Colonel," and their imitators in real life, a most unmerciful attack upon the American citizen. Such bribe and the grog-shop politician who finds the dispensing of liquor in this way a easy method of bribery, are the only persons outside of the bar-keepers who are likely to defend with much enthusiasm an expensive custom which often leads to the excessive use of liquor.

A Disappointing Snake.

Yesterdays afternoon the servants of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher noticed a calf in rear lot acting in an unaccountable manner, running around the lot and finally hitting its head through the fence, and one of the girls went to see what the matter was, and by on to extricate the calf at the time one of them noticed a snake going through the division fence. The calf was gotten out and laid just outside the walk, where shortly died. In the meantime the girls were sent for help, and was standing on the top of a large stone forming part of an old wall, and happening to look down saw a large snake making toward a hole just beneath her. She gave one scream, one jump, and then grew hungry for solitude, and went in search of it. She states that she was the only one who knew what she did not tell what kind of a snake it was, but was positively certain that it was a snake. The excitement increased and so did the crowd, and soon busy hands were engaged in tearing down the wall, but his snake was not to be found. The calf was removed by Colonel Fisher immediately after death to prevent the attraction of any larger number of people than were already there, and whether or no the calf was bitten we have no knowledge. With a voice like a rattle snake, the calf was soon gone.

"And Shakespeare?" "Ah, his verse grows ever worse and worse! So Kiddie plainly shows, And Kiddie knows!"

Is-and Childhood, then,

"The future lot of men?"

"Ah, we must all come To Kiddie."

"Where do the spirits go? Who leave us here below? Ah, who shall solve the riddle?" Ask Kiddie!"

"What tongue is spoken there, In that serene air?"

"Ah, that's not quite so riddleish, They all speak Kiddieish!"

"And Shakespeare?" "Ah, his verse grows ever worse and worse! So Kiddie plainly shows, And Kiddie knows!"

Beside the Brook.

"By groves and groves, I go a fishing," and he sped With rod and line, when by paths led Neath hatched boughs, beside the brook Where fish were lured with cunning hook.

"I'll rest in solitude awhile!" With favorite book and morning smile, Through winding ways she sought the brook.

Later, I passed; the lime and book; Were clearly seen, beside the brook; While in the grove, the angler's prize Was reading love-songs in his eyes.

Among the arrivals of salesmen at the Yarborough House are the following who are well known to the trade: Dr. T. R. Cary, of Petersburgh, Dr. G. White, of Norfolk, W. H. F. Hope, of Philadelphia, H. H. Shields of Richmond, and H. P. Watson, of Baltimore.
